

TO: Officials on the Roster of the 2018 Triangle Volleyball Association

FROM: Brian Jones, Western Triangle Regional Supervisor

As a member of our college officiating board, I've worked to help secure a couple of opportunities for our staffs to expand and improve their abilities with some additional training.

1. Line Judge Training: PAVO along with the NCAA offers a Line Judge Certification program. If you are NOT a PAVO member and would like to attend, admission is free if you pre-register. Simply use the promo code below.

The course is being held on Saturday and Sunday afternoons on August 4th and 5th in Chapel Hill. It will last for about 90 minutes. The video and PPT presentation work to enhance the skills for line judging as the mechanics are vastly different from working as an official.

2. Official's Training Day: the local college board is holding an official's training day from 9am -

2:00pm on Saturday August 4th in Fetzer Gym on the campus of UNC Chapel Hill

cost: $25 to attend for non-PAVO/non-MAVOB members. It is a very good price for all the knowledge you will gain that day.

The topics are ones that can be applied to all levels of officiating -- from recreation, to high school, to college and travel ball. How we interact with coaches is the same; our mechanics and awareness of the back row is the same as the rules do not change between rule code sets (NFHS, NCAA, and USAV); our communication with our partner works the same
